Year Built:	1920

Just a stone's throw away from Woodstock's vibrant cultural scene, this charming Arts and Crafts home blends original character with modern updates. A comprehensive renovation includes a brand-new septic and heating system, updated kitchen and baths, new flooring, lighting, paint, and enhanced insulation. Original stained-glass windows remain as artistic focal points, honoring the home's heritage. The main level features an inviting eat-in nook and a formal dining room that flows from the kitchen and living room—a perfect layout for both everyday living and entertaining. A convenient half bath completes the first floor. Upstairs, you'll find three bedrooms—including one with a walk-in closet—along with a full bath. The attic provides flexible space, ideal for a studio, home office, or creative retreat. Outdoor living is equally appealing, with a welcoming front porch, an enclosed back porch, and a landscaped, level yard. The detached garage—with electric—adds versatility for use as a workshop or additional storage. This restored gem offers a rare opportunity to live where creativity, history, and modern comfort converge—in the heart of Woodstock.
