Historic Victorian Beauty Awaits Your Vision in Uptown Kingston's Stockade District Step back in time with this magnificent Victorian home, built in 1899, and perfectly situated in Kingston's coveted Stockade District, a neighborhood renowned for being the original site of the mid-17th century Dutch settlement and the first capital of New York State.1 This four-bedroom, two-full-bathroom residence is a true preservationist's dream, brimming with the stunning original details that define the era. High ceilings amplify the already generous space, while gorgeous stained glass windows, intricate trim work, graceful pocket doors, and solid original flooring whisper tales of its storied past. The inviting front porch welcomes you to a bygone era, while the large backyard offers a private retreat for outdoor enjoyment. Located in the heart of Uptown Kingston, you'll be steps away from history and a vibrant modern renaissance. The area is a cultural hub offering a wonderful assortment of chic boutiques, like Rough Draft Bar & Books and Lovefield Vintage, alongside an eclectic mix of dining from classic comfort food at Hoffman House to wood-fired pizza at Lola. You'll find yourself surrounded by Revolutionary-era stone buildings and National Historic Landmarks, with the bustling Farmers Market just a short stroll away.231 This Victorian beauty is poised for her make-over. Bring your design eye and your vision to restore her to her former glory. Imagine finishing the day on a fully re-invisioned second-floor terrace, overlooking your neighborhood in one of the most historic districts in New York. The chance to own a piece of Kingston history is here. Call today to schedule your private viewing and start planning your restoration masterpiece.
