Rare opportunity in the historic hamlet of Rhinecliff! Originally built in 1859, this well-kept home offers timeless character along with everyday comfort. Updated over the years, the home features three bedrooms, two full baths, comfortable off-street parking for two cars, and a large storage/workshop shed. The fully fenced, level backyard provides a wonderful space for relaxing, gardening, entertaining, or enjoying time with pets. In September 2026, the entire exterior of the home was freshly painted, and the driveway and driveway fence were redone. The range and refrigerator are also brand new! Living in Rhinecliff offers a unique combination of historic character, Hudson River beauty, small-community charm, and convenient access to New York City. The hamlet is known for its Victorian, Colonial, and 19th-century architecture, creating a timeless Hudson Valley atmosphere. Nearby Rhinebeck offers boutique shopping, farm-to-table restaurants, cafés, arts, cultural events, and much more, while the surrounding Hudson Valley provides endless opportunities for hiking, boating, and outdoor recreation. One of this home's most special features is its exceptional proximity to the Rhinecliff–Kingston Amtrak Station, just three houses away with convenient sidewalk access. New York City is approximately a 90-minute train ride away, making weekend trips or commuting remarkably convenient. The station is so close, your car can stay in the driveway! Rhinecliff and Rhinebeck continue to attract buyers looking for weekend retreats, second homes, or a full-time move to the Hudson Valley. This is a rare opportunity to enjoy a wonderful balance of history, tranquility, character, and accessibility.
