The Canopy House Named for the towering canopy of mature trees that defines its landscape, The Canopy House is a home shaped as much by light as by architecture. Here, the forest is not simply the backdrop, it becomes part of daily life. Walls of glass frame the changing seasons while sunlight filters through the leaves, casting shifting patterns across stone, wood, and slate throughout the day. Set on 10.11 wooded acres just minutes from the heart of Rhinebeck Village, the property offers a rare balance of privacy and connection. Masterfully redesigned in 2019 by the acclaimed design-build firm The Art of Building, the main residence is a remarkable expression of craftsmanship and thoughtful design. Mid-century modern architecture is complemented by an understated palette of warm woods, natural stone, dark architectural accents, and expansive glass, creating interiors that feel sophisticated, welcoming, and deeply connected to their surroundings. Throughout the home, there is a quiet appreciation for proportion, natural light, and finely crafted detail, reflecting a philosophy of design where beauty is found in simplicity and every space feels intentional. Designed for effortless single-level living, the home's flowing floor plan balances expansive gathering spaces with private sleeping quarters. The soaring great room is anchored by a dramatic double-sided floor-to-ceiling stone fireplace, while three interconnected living spaces, wrapped in walls of glass, create a seamless connection to the surrounding landscape. The chef's kitchen opens naturally to the adjacent living and dining areas, creating an ideal setting for both intimate evenings and effortless entertaining. The primary suite is a true sanctuary, complete with a soaking tub, walk in shower, and views of the surrounding landscape. Three additional bedrooms are thoughtfully positioned in the main house to provide privacy and exceptional livability. Privately positioned beyond the main residence, the 1,132-square-foot guest house functions as a home unto itself, offering two bedrooms, a full kitchen, generous living spaces, a wood-burning stove, an attached bonus room ideal as a studio, gym, or office, and its own outdoor living area. Outside, a 20-by-50 heated gunite pool is nestled among mature trees and layered plantings, creating a private setting and remote setting. Historic stone walls weave throughout the landscape while generous lawns unfold beneath the canopy, reinforcing a setting that feels both timeless and distinctly Hudson Valley. Located just seven minutes from Rhinebeck Village, twelve minutes from Amtrak, and approximately ten minutes from the future Soho Farmhouse Hudson Valley.
