There are homes that ask you to compromise, and then there are homes that ask you to dream. Set against a backdrop of sweeping mountain views, this is a rare opportunity to create something that's unmistakably yours. The hardest work has already been done. What's left is the part that reflects your style, your vision, and the way you want to live. Picture slow mornings with coffee overlooking the mountains, evenings spent watching the seasons change, and a home finished exactly the way you've always imagined—not someone else's choices, but your own. Whether your vision includes warm natural finishes, clean modern lines, or a timeless mountain retreat, this property is ready for the next chapter. In a market where finding the right location is nearly impossible, opportunities like this don't come along often. For generations, Bearsville and neighboring Woodstock have drawn musicians, painters, writers, makers, and free spirits seeking inspiration, community, and a different pace of life. Here, you're close enough to enjoy the galleries, live music, cafés, and creative energy that define the area, yet far enough away to hear little more than the wind through the trees and the sounds of nature. Bring your imagination, your contractor, and your plans. The canvas is waiting.
