The Hamptons in Hurley At the top of a long, winding drive, hidden behind mature gardens and set on three acres, this architect-designed home brings a little bit of the Hamptons to the Hudson Valley. The approach says it first: a broad terra cotta-tiled porch, framed by classic columns and skylights, opening through three sets of French doors into a home designed around light, gardens and easy indoor-outdoor living. Inside, the architecture is quietly distinctive. Bullnose corners, radiant-heated white oak floors, all new Pella doors and windows throughout, and an abundance of natural light give the home a warm, polished feel without ever becoming precious. The custom kitchen by Brattesoni Designs is the heart of the house, recently outfitted with a full suite of Monogram appliances and centered around a substantial butcher-block infinity island with prep sink. There's a k and breakfast bar, wine refrigerator, dual dishwashers, and an entire wall of windows looking out toward the grotto and heated in-ground pool. The adjoining dining area feels open but defined, with room for a table of ten and direct access to the front porch. Beyond it, the sunken living room is exactly the kind of room you want to spend an afternoon in: walls of windows, skylights, custom built-ins and a wood-burning fireplace. French doors open to the outdoor dining deck and continue the flow toward the bluestone pool terrace beyond. Upstairs, the primary suite takes over the entire second floor. It comfortably accommodates a California king and includes his-and-her closets, a private balcony overlooking the gardens, and a truly expansive ensuite with a soaking tub, dual vanities, water closet and skylights. Back on the main level, a generous library/office has vaulted ceilings and is centered around a propane fireplace. Three additional queen bedrooms form a private bedroom wing, including one with vaulted ceilings, along with a full bath with direct access to the pool. Currently used as a studio and gallery, the east wing is this extraordinary light-filled space is one of the home's most flexible offerings. With beamed vaulted ceilings, two sets of French doors, a half bath and easy access to the rest of the house, it could become a spectacular first-floor primary suite, an oversized pool house, a media and recreation space - or simply remain an exceptional studio and gallery. A mudroom, half bath and large three-bay garage with lofted storage complete the practical side of the house. Outside, the property is where the whole thing really comes together. Three acres of mature gardens with irrigation and woodland create privacy without isolation, while the pool, bluestone terrace, grotto and multiple outdoor entertaining spaces make summer here feel like a permanent vacation. Uptown Kingston is less than five minutes away, with its restaurants, shops, galleries and live music. Woodstock, Red Hook and Rhinebeck are all roughly 20 minutes from home. The Thruway is under five minutes away, Amtrak is about 20 minutes, and the George Washington Bridge is approximately 90 minutes.
